SOME OF TO-MORROW'S CONTESTS

The Interest Excited in Washington by the Election—Substitute Clerks to Be Regulated-Undying Affection.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.) WASHINGTON, November 1 .- A good deal of interest is felt here in to-morrow's eleclions, particularly those which pertain to Nowhere in the country is there no much interest felt in the personnel of this distance from the election that the house is going to be greatly changed. Two years ago about two-thirdsof the old house five or six shots. Particulars can not be half of the present house comes back. What not the wounds are fatal. a time there will be with a new house whose that he has reached the age of seventy-five last week. thinks it time to retire from public life. His departure leaves Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, the father of the house not only so far as term of service goes, but house. also in age. Murphy, of Iowa, who has been one of the best friends the Hennepin canal has had, does not come back. Pat Collins, of Boston also drops out, so does Governor Curtin, Pennsylvania's war governor. Congressman Laird, I Nebraska, will be able to lay aside his athletic training after this con-gress for Mr. Cobb, whom he punched in the gress. The rivers and harbors in the country lose one of their heat gress. The rivers and harbors in the country lose one of their best friends, Mr. Willis. The picturesque Hewitt, of New York, will no longer make speeches standing crosslegged in the aisle. Randolph Tucker's gold-bowed glasses and white mustache diswed glasses and white mustache disappear after this congress, much to the regret of everybody, for he is a gentleman and a good fellow, to say nothing of the fact that he is one of the clearest-headed lawyers in the house. The confederate congress seems likely to lose a share of its representa-tion in the congress of the United States for Congressmen Singleton and Barks. States, for Congressmen Singleton and Barksdale, of Mississippi, who were both members of the confederate congress, drop out this time. Singleton is a very old man with snowy hair and beard. He was here way back in the thirty-third congress, and was among those who retired from the thirty-sixth congress when proposed to the congress who retired from the thirty-sixth congress when second to be compared to the congress when second to be considered to the congress when second to be considered to the congress when second to the congress when the con sixth congress when secession became pop-ular with the south. He went from the congress of the United States into the confederate congress, served there while that body lasted and then came back to the United States congress again.

Republicans Confident.

publicans close the campaign with a good degree of confidence. They do not say that they expect to carry the next house, but they are confident of reducing the democratic majority largely, and there is more than a fighting chance of electing a majority of the house. The news from Ohio says republicans will probably elect fifteen members in that state, and that Frank Hurd is likely to be beaten. He has dropped his extreme free trade views, it is said, having found them unpopular. Democrats arriving from New York snake their heads when asked about the situation there, and say the labor fight so complicates the situation that they are unable to tell what the result will be.

Substitutes to be Investigated, . The clerks in the treasury department are excited over a recent order of Assistant Secimpson by which all "principals" are required to report for duty on November 15. The system of employing substitutes by tude, and Mr. Thompson proposes to call in the long absent one and have a good look at them. It is feared that the government is being imposed upon by the substitute prac-tice, and new and stringent rules will be promulgated to prevent deception, if possible. A clerk who engages a substitute to occupy his desk and perform his work pays the substitute three-fourths of his salary. A two thousand dollar clerk can thus hire a substitute and receive $500 a year for doing nothing. In the treasury there is a woman clerk on the rolls who has not been at her desk for two years. She alleges that she is health and her sister has acted in her place during her absence. There are professional substitutes who have work all the year round by acting first for one clerk and then for another. All department clerks are granted thirty days' leave of ab-sence every year with pay and a substitute is only required when the absence is extended beyond the thirty days.

Regularly once a month the figure of a woman closely veiled is seen in McPherson square, usually about twilight. She is of good figure and quite prepossessing. She will sit on some of the park settees for a few min-utes while her gaze is riveted upon the magnificent equestrian statue of the deceased general. Twenty-six years ago Miss Emily Hofiman, one of the richest belies of Baltiore, while visiting out west met and fell in we with General McPherson and they belove with General came affianced. The general was engaged in the war and could not spare the time for the wedding. The dark days of strife con-tinued and the general fell in battle with the miniature of his sweeheart pressed to his breast. The lady never recovered from the shock and regularly visits the statue of her

Democratic Supremacy Threatened.

[Courier-Journal.]

A dispatch to the Courier-Journal says that the republican estimate that the demo crats will not have a majority greater than democrats at Washington, who, furthermore, will not be surprised, indeed, if the repub-licans capture that body. Unquestionably there is danger of this, through the wrangles of democrats throughout the country, and un-questionably this is the only hope the repub-licans have of success to-morrow.

SIX THOUSAND MEN OUT.

Chicago Beef Packers Refuse to Return to the Ten-Hour System.

CHICAGO, November 1 .- The threatened strike among the beef men at the stock yards was commenced this morning, and nearly 6,000 men are now out from the slaughter houses of G. F. Swift & Co. and Nelson Morris. The trouble is over the adoption of the ten-hour system, the men refusing to work the two extra hours without additional pay. In these two houses there are no hogs killed and the employes say they can not accept the tenhour system. Each of the firms employ about 3,000 men, and at present many these are congregated about the streets and on the corners near the big houses, but there is as vet no indication of any trouble. There is no indication that the police will be called upon to protect the two houses, but it is yet too early to determine the intention of the two firms. At 9 o'c lock everything was quiet. Further particulars from the stock yards strike are to the effect that Swift's men sent a communication to him on Saturday and insisted on having an increase of 5 cents per day should the firm return to the ten-hour system, and this was agreed to. ten-hour system, and this was agreed to. This morning when the beef butchers went to work, they found that Foreman Welder, to work, they found that Foreman Welder, of Swift's, had discharged James Matthewson, one of the committeemen. They also found that the wages of the laborers had not been increased, and so they struck. They insist on having Matthewson reinstated and also a return to the eight-hour day. On hearing that Swift's men were out, the beef butchers employed by Nelson Morris went out. A crowd went down to Smith's machine shop and compelled the men there for the purpose of calling his men out, but this move was anticipated by the firm, who got a force of police to guard the principal entrances and the crowd was kept away. The strikers arranged to hold a meeting during the day. A member of the executive committee told a reporter that urless the two firms gave in, all the employes in the yards

The Unfortunate Stockholders of the Pacific National Bank, Boston.

WASHINGTON, November 1 .- A decision was rendered by the supreme court of the United States to-day in a series of cases known as the Pacific national bank cases, brought here by appeal from the United of Massachusetts. These were suits instituted by the receiver of the insolvent Pacific national bank of Boston against stockholders of that bank, to enforce personal liability for an assessment of 100 per cent, upon the shares of both the original and the increased capital stock of the bank standing upon its books in their names. The stockholders maintained, when the cases were tried in the court below, that they were not hable on the shares of increased capital stock held by them for the reason that the increase of the capital of $500,000 to $961,000 was unau-thorized and illegal, and they were not par-ties to it. This court holds that the stockholders are liable upon their shares of increased capital stock; that the defenses at law and the alleged ground of re-lief in equity are alike insufficient and that the judgments and decrees of the ciraffirmed in all the cases, and it is so ordered. This decision covers ten cases in this court and several pending suits in the courts of Massachusetts. The opinion was delivered by Justice Matthews.

The deceased was a native of New York by birth in 1818, and he was educated for the law, but in 1838, when but twenty years of age, he took charge of the Morris academy, near Woodville, Miss., and in 1839 he,reeiny, near Woodville, Miss., and in 1859 in re-moved to the republic of Texas, where he practiced law for three years and served as an officer in several military expeditions against hos-tile Indians and Mexicans. Mr. Raymond also served two terms in the Texan congress. In July, 1842, he was appointed secretary of legation and in 1844 charge d'affairs ad interim of the republic of Texas to the United States government and he continued as such until after the annexation of Texas. In 1844 he was married to Miss Mary Jane Underwood, of Washington City, and in 1845, after closing his affairs in Texas, he removed to Cambridge City, this state, where he engaged in the mercantile business. In 1862 he his office. The budget has created a bad impression at Vienna.

Ohio. In May, 1871, he was called to the Seventin Pris last circular fisel proved to be a forgery, and yesterday a committee from the Michigan City Knights of Labor came down here to attend the Central Labor union to attest to this fact. So Mr. Krueger is still opposed by representatives of this order. The meeting of the union yesterday afternoon was particularly spirited or account of political conflicts, and there were marked differences of opinion among the members over various candidates and issues.

Says Darby O'Donahue. "The News is wrong in saying that it is Morris O'Donahue picked on specially to fight Bynum in my ward. I'm the man who is working against him, and I'm the warmest Harris man in that part of the city."

It is said that the anti-Bynumites in Perkins's ward have held out the olive-branch to Bynum and that Perkins, in his new conversion, has volunteered the use of a room on to-morrow in which the antis can meet to be labored with. Simeon established his quarters at the Grand Saturday, night, and Falstafi's march to Coventry was not a circumstance to the spectacle presented at that hotel for several hours. Occasionally a few of the swallow-tailed democracy could be seen sneaking up to his room, but as a rule the callers were of the pure, unadulterated Ragged Reuben type, whom Simeon bearded with the air of an emperor. A few minutes after 11 o'clock is deduced to the sum of a possible judge.

The funniest claifly of the campaign has been the preiended discovery by the Journal that "Re" King's name is not Issae, but Issaida, and that he has made the change to conceal as much as possible a Hebrew origin. In what way "smaln" holds the age over "I-saac" as a Hebrew name, is a puzzle, but the Journal seems to think that it does, and it this, that King should not only be scratched by every Hebrew, "but by every man who despises meanness."

Union Ministers' Meeting. The union ministers' meeting was held at Central Christian church this morning, there being a representative attendance from the various denominations. Rev. M. L. Haines, of the First Presbyterian church, presided, and Mr. Neighbors, of the Baptist church, read a carefully prepared and thoughtful paper on "Sunday Funerals," taking strong grounds against them at "cut' rates, lower than those of the farmers and hucksters, while an armed guard is sitting over him. It is a palpable hit. It is headed "Convict Cabbage."

The fair of the St. Joseph's organ society vas largely attended Saturday night and proved a necess in every respect. The books of chance were generally filled and the articles were well distributed. The fine silk banner, for the most distributed. The line slik banner, for the most popular clothing house, was won by the When, and the flag for the most popular military company was captured by the Emmett Guards. [Special to The Indianapolis News.] LONDON, November 1 .- Two experienced detectives have started for the United States in search of S. Edward Curtiss, late clerk and solicitor of the East Stonehouse Local oard, who recently absconded and has been tracked across the Atlantic. Curtiss was an eminently respectable citizen, a pillar of the ocal church, and an active organizer of the Sunday-school. Three weeks ago he suddenly disappeared. Investigation of his accounts developed that he had embezzied or forged some twenty bonds, in the aggregate over $75,000, and, to add to the enormity of his crime, he had disposed of these bonds to triendly societies which were investing their surplus receipts. According to previous law decisions, the board is not responsible for the amount of the forgeries, while it is a disputed question as to whether they are responsible for the stolen bonds which have been disposed of. Curtiss was not given to speculation, and it is the prevailing belief that he has taken the bulk of the cash secured to the United States.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1886, THE scratcher is abroad in the land.

THE great and inallenable right of scratching will be availed of freely to-morrow.

THE result of to-morrow's work is a good deal a matter of doubt and guess work. Ir this sort of weather holds, there is like-

THE president is out with his Thanks. giving day proclamation. Perhaps he might have been able to add more significan e to his utterance if he had waited until day

THE "last word" has probably been said. Happily shall it be if the influences to work to-morrow shall be those only which spring from "words fitly spoken"-the whole quotation is "words fitly spoken are like apples of gold in pictures of silver." It is concerning the "gold" and "silver" that we want to urge public vigilance. If the charges and counter charges that have been made have foundation in truth, money has been used and will be used wrongfully, criminally. It would be well to remember the law as to oney in elections-the buying and selling of votes. If elections shall thus be corrupted the liberties of the people are gone and await only the relief of despotism.

A LONDON paper has an idea on American affairs that for once is correct and profound. The Morning Post says: "The people of New York will forgive us if we say that we think the coming election for mayor is more important to the American public and the world than all Thursday's cere monies." There can be little doubt of this; and the importance of the occasion is not likely to be affected by George's defeat. The thing that will "discount" the significance of the movement will be a total vote for George so small, relatively, as to allow of being whistled down the wind. If it amounts to considerable, the significance will remain, as we long ago said in the beginning of the movement: it will indicate that a new force has arisen in American politics-new in a fouble sense-and hence a force that no prognostication can keep up with.

Ir lfas been urged against Colonel Merrill that he was nominated at the wish of a certain class that do not work in politics, and are often so much taken up by their own affairs that they do not even vote. We think this argument is a very shallow one, for most business men do vote; but even if true it has no pertinence now, except it may be to induce all of Colonel Merrill's friends to turn out in his aid. His competency for the office is unquestioned. His personal character and record are without flaws. He sacrificed a valuable business to serve in the army and has never recovered from the sacrifice. If there be anything in the demands for merit, Colonel Merrill ought to secure a large majority. When to this is added that he has been selected as the special foe of Sim Coy, who is reaching out his hands to grasp entire government of Marion county, and whose schemes would be upset by the election of Colonel Merrill as auditor, there is reason enough for his election.

THE people of this congressional district, we believe, are in favor of reforming the tariff, to the end that trade 'may be loosened from the fetters that shackle it and the burdens of taxation be reduced. There is presented in this election an opportunity to prevent a backstep. It is to elect Mr. Bynum. He is known as a firm, consistent tariff reformer. As such he was elected two years ago. He has proven to be true. He ought to be re-elected. To now send Mr. Harris in his place would be a "slump," a step backward, losing in the interest of tariff reform and gaining in nothing else. Democratic opponents of Mr. Bynum who have been busy with efforts to compass his defeat, state in one of their circulars advising democrats to vote for Harris, that if elected, Harris would be "simply a figure-head, controlling ac patronage." We would then have a figure in him, and nothing else, while we would lose a tariff reformer. Everything practicable can be gained in Mr. Bynum that could be in Mr. Harris, and, besides, tariff reform would take no backward step. We arge tariff reformers in this district to be true to themselves and to vote for Bynum.

A MAN by the name of Tanner represents the United States as consul at Chemnitz, Saxony. He has been sending to the state department from time to time disquisitions on beer drinking. He seems to be an observing person, or thinks he is, and he has ded a theory after the manner one might say, of a German professor of Esthetik who, according to an American writer, is never happy until he has evolved a trilogy, h he goes off with ponderous serenity into the Ewigkeit. Our Con mer seems to have wrapped himself in some such cloud-like covering. He descants continually on the slow drinking of the German as an exemplification that the blood is thereby heated only gradually, instead of suddenly, so there is no violent derangement of the animal, and hence one can fill himself full and yet not be drunken.

of life and manners illustrated by the wives and daughters drinking beer with the fathers and sons; and further the consul says drunkenness is comparatively rare, and he says a good deal more not worthy of repetition. As a matter of fact, drunkenness is not comparatively rare in Germany, and of all spots on the face of the earth Saxony, where the consul makes his observations, is one of the worst in all ways. The consul's observations are like so much other wisdom of this world-not skin deep. He sees a pleasant city and some pleasant customs and he at once jumps to the conclusion that the pleasantness is of the same texture all the way through, and that as for the customs we have only to adopt them to be virtuous and happy; making no account of differences of race and tempermanent. If our consul instead of viewing things through the bottom of a beer glass will consult some German bureau of statistics, he will learn some things that he seems to be in need of.

Now that the campaign in general is ended, a review of some of its features, or the lack of them, as given by the Washington Star, is of more than ordinary interest. The habit of running to Washington with much haste at the eleventh election hour to get funds or offices to "help out" has not been followed this year. No assistance other than the sending out of documents by the campaign committees has been rendered at Washington. No campaign contributions have been collected in the departments, and practically no money has gone into the canyage from Washington City. Whatever interest the administration has felt in the election, it has done nothing that could be construed into official interference. All efforts to get the president to take part have been futile, and, as a rule, members of congress who were remarkably successful in getting offices in the early days of the administration have been defeated for renomination. As to the next house, the Star says Washington pinion is that the democrats expect to lose some of their majority, but still retain control, and in this change they expect another, namely, that there will be a greater proportion of tariff reformers in the new congress. It is the received opinion also among politicians that the president's suspension of District Attorneys Stone and Benton, for too great political activity, is an ndication that the order for federal officeholders to let electioneering alone is to be strictly enforced. It is expected that a number of dismissals will result from violations of this order, though probably not all who are guilty of this will be punished. It will be interesting indeed to compare results after the election with these election guesses, and also the cousre of the administration as o "offensive partisans." But inasmuch as there will be no more politics of any moment until the "presidential" round two years hence, there will probably be few victims to offer themselves for the official ax.

By the election to-morrow we hope to see a republican legislature returned, and to this end we urge the people of Marion county to send in the republican delegation. It is more than a matter of partisan politics. The state treasury so far as is known is not in a satisfactory condition. What that condition is never will be fully known so long as a democratic legislature is elected. This is a matter of experience. Two years ago all attempt to gain knowledge in this direction was stifled. The investigation so-called controlled by a democratic majority was a sham. This constitutes reason all sufficient for the election of a republican legislature. But there are other reasons. The gravest sort of abuses are charged in the Paris that France has not asked England to Paris that France has not asked England to evacuate Egypt. The cable correspond and they have not been disproven. An investigation of them by a democratic legislatura will be simply an elaborate ich of white. wash. They should be investigated by a republican legislature; and, whether found to be true or false, the whole system of our benevolent institutions' management ought to be radically changed. The republicans are pledged to change it -not by simply substituting republicans for democrats, but by rehabilitating the whole scheme on the basis of civil service reform, ending the spoils system, making merit the meed of service. Then there is the rebuke of the infamous democratic cerrymander needed, and it can only be secured by the election of a republican legislature. It ought to be rebuked, and that so signally that it will not be needed for a good many years. As to the criminal court of this county, it needs reformation if ever anything did. It has been the snug harbor and haven of refuge for the law-defying liquor traffic. This is a danger that threatens the greatest consequences. It can not be that one class of law-breakers shall long go free of their crime without affecting the whole body politic and body social. The abuse is colossal. We urge the election of the republican candidate for criminal judge as the hope of reformation here. In this connection we advise the election of the democratic prosecutor, Major Mitchell. He is an able man, and such is badly needed there; and we believe he is an honest man, who will faithfully do his duty in prosecuting all offenders against the law. In the county ticket there is more room for personal choice, but in one or two cases considerations of fitness seem to point absolutely. Colonel Merrill is one case, for example. He is a whole-souled, "square" man, one of the thirteen-to-the-dozen kind. Openhanded, open-hearted, hard working, a worthy citizen in every way; they are his most enthusiastic friends who know him best.

We would urge the election of "Thad" Rollins also. He "fills the bill" and is a valuable piece of material to put into that office in order to keep his competitor out. The competitor is the kind of man whom this county does not want in its publie places. The application of this remark | sues naturally. should be made just as broad and as long as it touches the creatures of Mr. Simeon Coy. Mr. Coy is the kind of a man who should get an urgent injunction to keep his hands out of this community's affairs. If he once gets intrenched in the courts and councils, police circles and county offices, the tax-payers of this county will find it very costly and wearisome work to cust him. His influence should be headed off and stamped out in all directions. He has boasted that he will

Catarrh is a very prevalent disease, with distressing and offensive symptoms. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives ready relief and speedy cure, from the fact it acts through the blood, and thus reaches every part of the system. "I suffered with catarrh fifteen years. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and I am not troubled any with catarrh, and my general health is much better." I. W. LILLIS, Postal Clerk Chicago & St. Louis Railroad.

" I suffered with catarrh 6 or 8 years; tried many wonderful cures, inhalers, etc., spending nearly one hundred dollars without benefit. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, and was greatly improved." M. A. ABBEY. Worcester. Mass.

Hood's Sersaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion: 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence. "Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass. A Word About Catarrh "It is the mucus membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate us-sues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh sues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, transmelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smelt, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a sim lecoid in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelops the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. LARCENY-PLEADING-DISCOALIFIED JUROR-EVI-DENCE.

12,903, Henry Splioffer vs. state of Indiana.
Warrick C. C. Affirmed. Mitchell, J.

In an indictment charging that the defendant
"did feloniously steal, take and haul away fifty pounds of tobacco," the use of the word "heal" instead of "carry" would not render the indictment bed. The welful of a decoders," and its instead of "carry" would not render the indictment bad. The refusal of a defendant's application for a change of venue from the county is a matter wholly within the discretion of the court.
The fact that one of the jurors who tried the cause was ballist of the g and jury that found the indictment would not disqualify him as a juror where it was not shown that he was present during the deliberation of the grand jury, or in some other way rendered incompetent. The defense in this gase was that appellant was hired to drive a wagou at night time for one Gladding, who went from piace to page and took tobacco from barns, and the appellant did not know out that it was being tawinly taken. The court refused to permif a witness, from whom tobacco had been stolen, to testify that appellant came to him and informed him of the their and urged him to institute a presented against Gladding. These declarations were merely self-serving statements and not competent.

Rumors are still prevalent that Hicklin J. Lander's defalcation was much larger than at this reported, and that besides the $37,000 he had obtained by the warehouse receipts at the banks. he had involved the firms of Landers, Given & Co., and Landers, Barnes & Co., in a very heavy indebtedness. These rumors became somewhat more specific on saturday evening, it being told about that creditors of the two firms, representing claims to the amount of $140,000 had a meeting and consultation. Mr. Franklin Landers denied any meeting of creditors and said that Landers, Barnes & Co. did not owe a dollar, and that Landers, Given & Co. had no debts that they could not promptly and easily meet. The losses of the latter firm, was caused by young Landers's dishonesty, and the exact amount of it is not yet exactly known, as the examination of the books is not yet complete. Other gentlemen, who are in a position to know the exact condition of affairs, say that the firms named are by no means embarrassed, and that Mr. Franklin Landers himself could easily pay the obligations of both and then have $190,000 left. he had involved the firms of Landers, Given of ders himself could easily pay the obligations of both and then have $100,000 left.

The event of the week is the appearance of

and "David Garrick."

At the Museum, Joseph J. Dowling and Miss Sadie Hasson, two melo-dramatic artists of great popularity, will appear the first part of the week in "Never Say Die," a new drama with sensational points; and the last part in "Nobooy's Claim," a strong attraction. The prospects are that this place will not break its record by having thin houses.

The Seventh Church Prospects. The question of the erection of a new edifice is being agitated since the Seventh and Eleventh Presbyterian churches have united.

The consolidation of the two congregations is under the name of the Seventh Presbyterian cource, and the property of the Eleventh church goes to the Seventh, which consists of the property on Olive street, valued at $3,500. It is the desire of the minister, Rev. R. V. Hunter, as well as a majority of the congregation, to obtain a site on Virginia avenue, and the proprietors of the Virginia avenue rink are desirous of selling them that property, urging that the building, with little expense, can be converted into a very fine churca. A disposition is shown by some to hold the Elm-street lot, and remodel and enlarge the present church. The consolidation of the two congregations is

Prices for the Fa.r.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis News: There seems to be an incidention on the part of the Flower Mission ladies to pit down the prices of admission to their far to what are termed "popular prices." Twenty-five cents may be a popular price among those who are not especially interested in the success of the enterprise, and among flose who have not contributed largely of their personal influence, time, money and its equivalent, but it certainly does not meet with the subroval of those who have invested genthe sproval of those who have invested generously with the idea that every precaution was to be taken to secure a profit on the investment. The fair will undoubtedly be the handsomest ever given by any organization in this city. We understand that attractions for the evening We understand that attractions for the evening are on the same scale as the fair. If the public has ever been offered a beautiful entertainment and a promenade concert in one evening for 25 cents, it has escaped our notice. Fifty cents admission in the evening for adults and half-price for children is what we should understand by popular prices. The Indianapolis public has always proved a generous and charitr-loving public, and it seems astonishing that so low a price as 25 cents should be made.

A Protest.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis News.

The report published in the Journal to-day of disgraceful wrangling in the session of the Central labor union on yesterday is faise in almost every particular. The meeting was harmonious and nearly every action taken was by unanimous vote. The only confusion was created by outsiders and was summarily suppressed. The meeting was enthusiastic and the work undertaken will be faithfully and conscientiously performed, M. G. Farnham, President.

CLOAKS.

"It covers a man all over, thoughts and all, like a cloak," says Saucho

We are mindful of covering for men, when it comes to that, but it is covering for women that for various reasons we speak of now.

One reason, because this is the time to speak of it.

Cloaks are the great garments for this time of war.

this time of year.
But they are not as great a gar-ment as they ought to be on account of the unseasonably nice weather we have had.

They have to "go" just the same; so we have marked several lots down, -some to bare cost; some less than cost. The word is "Cloaks must go."

Harry Jones, released from jail but a few days ago, is in trouble at Springfield, Ill., where he is under arrest for false imprisonment, he having preferred a false charge which led to the arrest of innocent parties for the murder at Marshall, Ill. There seems no way of suppressing this thoroughly bad fellow.

A number of young ladies and gentlemen from Irvington attended a Hallowe'en party in the city Saturday evening. In returning to Irvington in a large wagon they were all thrown down an embankment east of the city, near the deaf and dumb asylum, by a careless driver. Mrs. Tom Hibben fainted from fright and injuries received, and several others were slightly injured.

the guinea. * Saturday night, while several ladies were returning from the Catholic fair, near the corner of St. Clair and Broadway streets, they were attacked by a man who sprang from an adjoining yard, who seized one of them and attempted to pull her to one side. The ladies screamed, and two gentlemen nearly one square away hastened to the scene only to find the rascal had fled. One of the ladies fainted through fright.

Extensive improvements are contemplated on the Acton camp ground next spring, ne-cessitating several thousand dollars outlay. Among other things the logs and under-brush will be cleared away, the dam will be raised so that a lake covering forty acres will be created and a well will be sunk to supply the same with fresh water. The old bridge will also be supplanted with newer ones of a resting water and in other ways practical rustic pattern and in other ways material improvements will be made.

William H. Robinson, brought here from Bloomington to answer for personating a pension officer, seems to be a promiscuous rascal, if the charges alleged are true. He will have a hearing on Wednesday, and it is stated that he sailed around as "Dr." Edwards and under other aliases, and, having a glib tongue, was very successful in working ap-plicants for pensions for small amounts. He was also a pretended G. A. R., and a Mason, and an Odd Fellow, as circumstances prom-ised the best harvest.

LEFFINGWELL'S CHARGES

Against Mr. Powderly and the Controll-

ing Element in the Knights of Labor, Mr. Sam L. Leffingwell, was a delegate to the recent Knights of Labor convention at Richmond, and whose name was stricken from the roll of delegates, has published a lengthy statement, in which has published a lengthy statement, in which he gives the particulars of an alleged con-spiracy in the order. He says that several years ago, when Robert T. Layton, of Pittsburg, was secretary and treasurer, a plot was made to murder both him and Mr. Powderly by throwing them overboard from a Jersey City ferry, but that it was foiled by their failure to be on that particular boat. Further, he claims that Mr. Powderly became so thoroughly under the power of the "Home club gang," as they are called, the men who are alleged to have caused all the trouble in the order, that in all meetings he decided arbitrarily in accordance with their wishes, and that he showed himself the witchild in careable of preciding in self to be utterly incapable of presiding im-partially. As a result of this, Mr. Leffing-well says all the business of the special session at Cleveland was illegal, unauthorized and not justified by any kind of law, established or unwritten. Among the unlawful acts was the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution, although | ket prices. t provided that all amendments should be submitted to the local assemblies sixty days submitted to the local assemblies sixty days before the meeting of the general assembly. At the last assembly Mr. Powderly failed to take any notice of this violation of the law. The new constitution thus illegally adopted, as Leffingwell claims, "provided that the general master workman, the worthy foreman and other general officers should be elected for a period of three years; that the office of secretary-treasurer should be abolished, or rather cut in twain; that there should be a general secretary and a general treasurer elected; that the office of secretary of insurance should be abolished, and that his duties should devolve upon the general secretary; that the general executive board should consist of six members, in addition to the general master workman, and that the to the general master workman, and that the salaries of all these worthies should be princely, placing them forever beyond the reach of want when they should have been retired, by age, from the arduous duties of their respective allotments. The general assembly, under the lash of Powderly, passed favorably upon this report, with a simple amendment of two years, instead of three, for the term of office."

for the term of office."

In conclusion he says: "An election followed and the result of the year's manipulation, trickery and chicanery was as follows: Powderly, general master workman for two years, at a salary of $5,000 per year; Litchnun, general secretary for two years, at a salary of $2,000; six members of the executive board, with Tom McGuire at the head at a salary of $42,000; six members of the executive board, with Tom McGuire two years, at a salary of $2,000; six members of the executive board, with Tom McGuire at the head, at a salary of $4 per day and expenses, or $1,460 per year, each. For denouncing this trick I was selected as a victim. In expressing convictions in a public place, I was informed that a spotter was on my track. I immediately and openly denounced the spotter, and, in terms more emphatic than elegant, expressed the measure of my contempt for the ones that sent him—whether of the Home club, the executive board, or Powderly himself. I now again, publicly and emphatically, denounce as unprincipled and treacherous to the trusts imposed upon them, any and all who have anything to do with the dirty business of elevating themselves into positions and are participants in this disgraceful rape upon the treasury of the general assembly. If this be treason, let them make the most of it."

In England it is observed by harmless fireside reveiries, as ducking for apples in a tub of water, and such like things. In Scotland the customs, while much the same, formerly took on a more superstitious character. In America the time seems to be observed chiefly by "larky" young men, who carry off gates, blow tin horns, and otherwise make night hideous. Of course, clothes frequently get torn by such proceedings, overcoats and the like ruined.

In all cases we can supply the deficiency at one price lower than any one

In the way of Overcoats now we mention a line of particularly fine tailormade garments. We have them graded down from this to the substantial every-day working
